Town Council Discuss Fire Protection

The regular meeting of Strathmore Council was held on Tuesday night, Mayor Strathmore in the chair, and all the members of the Council present. Secretary-Treasurer Wears read the minutes, which were duly confirmed. A considerable amount of the time of the session was taken up discussing the cleaning up of the lake in Lambert Park, and it was learned that it would cost $1,000 to make a real job of it, which nearly caused heart failure to the local secretary who had thought that such an amount might be extracted from the strong loquacity of a purpose.

The Mayor explained the financial difficulties that exist, and Ex-Minister of Public Works Bailey, who was in the audience at the meeting, volunteered to go down and look over the situation, and report progress before the meeting was closed.

After an absence of about half an hour, and with his kindly experience brought into use, he returned and confirmed all the reports about it being a very expensive proposition, and almost unmountable difficulties to be met, after which he farewelled and left for his home on Bailey Boulevard. The matter was left in the hands of the Mayor and Council.

Councillor Codd reported upon the very efficient work that had been accomplished by J. A. Cammatt and his outfit in putting the highway from the Cemetery east to the town limits in first-class condition. The Council very much appreciated the use of Mr. Cammatt's outfit at a very reasonable cost.

A communication was read from D. Spence, Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs, asking the cooperation of the Council, and the assistance of the Secretary-Treasurer in the handling of the Old Age Pension through the Workmen's Compensation Board, which the Council are very willing to do.

The members of the Lawn Bowling Club having neglected the lot west of the Town Hall are to be warned that if the weeds are not destroyed within fourteen days that the lease may be cancelled.

The Council approved of the application for a restaurant license to Look Sing and Look Lung on Second Street. The following resolutions were passed and will be presented and argued before the Municipal Convention at Calgary by the delegates, Mayor Strathmore and Mr. T. M. Wears.

WHEREAS section 363, subsection

7, of "The Town Act" makes provision for the collection of a minimum school tax from certain parties therein defined;

AND WHEREAS although section 363, subsection 11 makes a defaulting employer liable upon summary conviction to a fine not exceeding $500; a defaulting employee is not so liable;

BE IT RESOLVED that both a defaulting employer and a defaulting employee be liable in the same penalty, and be put to a real test the power to recall names just lurking around the corner of memory.

An interesting program followed, consisting of a piano solo, well rendered by Miss Scher, a very delightful vocal solo by Mrs. Waters with Mrs. Florence Garrett accompanying, an exceedingly pleasing rendition by Mrs. Watson "Thomas Cuddie Doan".

AND WHEREAS it would be more equitable to give to a town, in such circumstances, the whole rights of a defaulting taxpayer;

BE IT RESOLVED that the Provincial Government be asked to amend the law so that this may be done. The deplorable condition of the local cemetery was presented by the Mayor and Councillor Codd, and two drums of weed killer were ordered to be purchased, and the Mayor intends to give his personal attention towards a general and permanent improvement.

Only one small account for $18.00 was presented, and was referred to the Finance Committee for payment. The flood of quite a heavy expenditure to put the fire equipment in first-class condition in order that better fire protection may be obtained, and lower the premium may be secured, brought on quite a general discussion, and estimates running from $2,000 to $10,000 were named.

The matter will be discussed at the next meeting of the Council on July 2nd, and the ratifiers are requested to turn out and express to the members of the Council their views in regard to making such an expenditure, and the advisability of raising funds through the means of issuing debentures.

A Stampede meeting will be held in the Memorial Hall on Thursday night at 8.30, when Grounds Committee will make report, and other important business transacted. Everyone interested is invited to be present.

A VERY ENJOYABLE SOCIAL AFTERNOON

A very delightful variation was enjoyed by the Ladies Aid of Strathmore United Church, when they met Thursday afternoon last, with the Ladies Aid of Namaka, at the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnston, of Namaka.

The weather was perfect, and to drive out very pleasant. On arrival at the Johnston home, the spacious and beautifully kept lawns proved a source of delight. In doors Mrs. Johnston welcomed the large number of ladies.

The Namaka ladies held their regular business meeting, conducted by their President, Mrs. Wooster.

At the conclusion of this a very interesting musical concert was arranged, which provided much merriment, and put to a real test the power to recall names just lurking around the corner of memory.

An interesting program followed, consisting of a piano solo, well rendered by Miss Scher, a very delightful vocal solo by Mrs. Waters with Mrs. Florence Garrett accompanying, an exceedingly pleasing rendition by Mrs. Watson "Thomas Cuddie Doan".

At the Strathmore Golf Course Thursday, June 13th, the play between Captain and Vice-Captain, resulted in a victory for the Vice-Captain, Mrs. E. Wright.

Wednesday, June 19th, the mixed foursome was played, and proved a very delightful outing. The wind of the early afternoon subsided, which left perfect weather; the contest was keen, and a healthy and good natured rivalry was the result.

Ten was served in the Club House, which is taking on quite a new appearance. There was a large number playing. Those present being: Mr. and Mrs. Van Tieshem, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. A. Pierson, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. H. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Koch, Mrs. C. Cowell, Mrs. A. A. Moore, Misses Brown, McCann, Gordon, E. Gray, Messrs. Patrick, Peterson, Gannon, Leonard Van Tieshem, Archie Gray, Ray Douglas, Mrs. Patrick and Mr. Alex Gray were tea guests.

The play resulted in a tie for Mrs. Perry and Mr. Peterson vs. Mrs. Cowell and Mr. Pierson, their score being 42 net.

The following is the draw for the Ladies Foursome on Wednesday, June 19th:

Chamberlain vs. Mrs. Pierson.

Mrs. Koch vs. Mrs. McFarland.

Mrs. Downey vs. Mrs. Patterson.

Mrs. Perry vs. Mrs. Nichols.

Mrs. Van Tieshem vs. Mrs. Stockton.

Mrs. Brown vs. Mrs. Cowell.

WINNIPEG, Man.—Crops continue to show healthy stand and are growing; steadily where damage has not been suffered by high winds and blowing.

With the exception of some of the Southern portions rain is badly needed in the northern Alberta.

In Alberta, with less variation in temperature than the other provinces, and scattered showers of from one to six hours duration the crop is in a very satisfactory condition. No eastern sections require immediate rains while southern parts have sufficient moisture to last for some time. Warm weather has promoted growth both of wheat and coarse grains, sugar beets are progressing satisfactorily and little damage has been suffered from hail. Wheat in the Peace River district has caused a certain amount of loss to the wheat in summerfall. Favorable conditions exist in the Peace River district. Frequent showers and warm weather have been reported and crop shows excellent germination and growth.

In this Scotch selection Mrs. Watson portrayed clearly all the humor, the devotion the sympathy and pathos of the poem. Her audience listened on an encore, to which she graciously responded.

A very interesting article on "World War" was read by Mrs. Althea, Treasurer of the Ladies Aid.

Following this Mrs. Johnston invited her guests to the lawn where a long table was placed, on which refreshments, delicious and bounteous, were placed, and to which all did ample justice.

Mrs. Jones, President of the Strathmore Ladies Aid, expressed to Mr. and Mrs. Johnston, the thanks of all the Strathmore members for the pleasure they had enjoyed, and expressed the wish that we may some time have a similar visit from the Ladies Aid, of Namaka. All joined in singing "For they are Jolly Good Fellows".

Those present from Strathmore were: Mesdames Jones, McDonald, Lydiate, White, St. Mary, White, Marston, White, Bowler, Garrett, Labin, Perry, McGregor, Bray, Temple, Zerkle, West, Moore, and Florence Garrett.

CADET INSPECTION CONDUCTED BY MAJ. MILLER

On Tuesday morning, June 11th, Major Miller, D.S.O., of Calgary, inspected the school cadets. Outfitted in their new uniforms, which were bought with the proceeds of their Easter Dinner, the boys were complimented on their good appearance. Although only organized a short time the boys displayed good ability in their drills.

Major Miller spoke to the cadets, regarding the annual inspection, and being held at Cochrane from July 2nd to 10th. All expenses while enroute and during camp are paid by the authorities. Group and team games, fishing, swimming, camp fire treats and physical drill form the camp program in which nearly 500 boys from all parts of the province participate. Needless to say, the members of the Strathmore Corps are greatly enthused over their prospects for attendance. However, as such a number are to be in attendance, funds are not available to take the full strength of the corps, so possibly only 20 may be given the privilege to attend.

The best shot badge of the year was awarded by Major Miller to Frederick Hirtle. The inspection closed with three rousing cheers for the King.

STAMPEDE MEETING

A Stampede meeting will be held in the Memorial Hall on Thursday night at 8.30, when Grounds Committee will make report, and other important business transacted. Everyone interested is invited to be present.

WASHINGTON—Everybody in the United States can take an automobile ride at the same time if an average of 54 persons that on Jan. 1 the United States had 24,529,821 of the 32,025,544 should be left behind, there are 2,112,999 trucks and 92,335 buses to transport the overflow.

These figures have been compiled by the Department of Commerce, and show that on Jan. 1 the United States had 24,529,821 of the 32,025,544 should be left behind, there are 2,112,999 trucks and 92,335 buses to transport the overflow.

Atting upon a challenge issued by the local school board a shooting match between the cadets and the board took place on Monday evening, June 17th, in the indoor rifle range at Barber and Cradock's hardware.

All enjoyed themselves, and expressed the fond hope of another engagement when the bowlers of the board had more practice.

Origin of Widdicombe Fair

The origin of the famous event at which Uncle Tom Cobley and his famous band attended seems to have laid in an ancient custom of celebrating the anniversary of the death of a martyr by withdrawing after service by Church to the church or fire tree, and there with great solemnity to have a picnic.

In order that the attendance might be good, became a custom to hold these picnics in the Church yard or even in the Church itself, a manner which had to be forbidden in England by Ecclesiastical Law in the year 1683. In this way The Fair came to be associated with the Church, and attached to the Community, hence Holy Thursday and the whole of Ascension week is found to be an ascension holiday among the Lancashire cotton spinners, and Lammes week to be similarly kept as a holiday by the Lincoln townpeople. These are the times for innocent fun and frolic among the people, and of stock taking by the mill owners, of attendance at fairs and race meetings, between seedling and haying St. Michael's Church seeks to give opportunity for similar enjoyment in the Park set aside by the Town for the benefit of the people.

CARLELAND OLD TIMER DIES

Another old timer of the district has gone when Thos. R. Field, of Carleland, passed away on Tuesday, June 4th, 1929.

Mr. Field was born September 29th, 1848 in Providence, R. I., and in 1882 married Helen Blair, of Ilcooke, Ill. To this union were born two children, Benah, who died in infancy, and Gale B., who, with the widow and two grand children, are left to mourn his loss.

Twenty-two years ago, in 1907, Mr. Field came from Minnesota, and with his son Gale B. started farming 12 miles south-west of Strathmore. They traded in Strathmore and Landan until the Gleichen Shepard cut off was put through by the C.P.R., when the town of Carleland was built up one mile south of their place.

Mr. Field had a slight stroke five years ago, and since then his health has gradually failed, until he quietly passed away on Tuesday, June 4th, at the age of 80 years 8 months and 6 days.

The funeral services were held from Foster & Foster's parlors in Calgary at 2 o'clock on Friday, June 7th, and were conducted by Rev. Mr. Marr, of Calgary, assisted by Rev. Mr. Long, of Carleland, and interment was in the Burialland Cemetery, Calgary.

The pall bearers were O. Moorhouse, W. Bergquist, F. Addeman, A. O. Moore, T. H. Kruse and D. Anderson.

STRANGE CASE OF DIS- APPEARANCE UNCOVERED

Major Osborne Lean, War Hero, Returns After Absence of Eighteen Months

(Special to the Standard)
(Copyright)

TORONTO, Ont.—Strange indeed has been the case of Major Lean. For eighteen months the police of Ontario and Quebec and the border states, and hundreds of citizens of the two provinces wondered what happened to Osborne Lean, major in His Majesty's army during the war, and prominent insurance broker since.

It was on November 29, 1927, that he was last heard of by any who knew him. He walked out of his house, without a cent of money, and disappeared. As the days passed Ontario seemed another Ambrose Small mystery, the two were linked up in some theories of what was coming to be known as "the strange case of Major Lean," and the police set out on one of the most intensive searches the country has known. But in vain.

The other day the province was startled again. Osborne Lean had come home. Just as silently and mysteriously as he had departed, he came back to his own. The first intimation of his return came to his brother-in-law. The maid told him that there was a bearded and somewhat rough-looking man at the door asking for him. Mr. Rowlands went to the door. Surely he had seen this man before. What did he want? Did he remember him? Could he tell him who he was? He had forgotten. Then the truth dawned. This was Osborne, of course, sunburned, emaciated, toll-wary, but Osborne Lean without a doubt. Then another strange request. Did Mr. Rowlands know where Mrs. Lean was living now? The man at the door had gone to his former residence looking for his home, his wife. He remembered somehow, as the past slowly dawned upon his consciousness, that he had been married, that he had a house and a wife in Toronto.

It was one of the most tragic meetings that one could imagine. Tell me who I am and why do I seem to know you? Was the appeal of eyes a little dim, a little strained, and very sad. Mrs. Lean was told of her husband's return and she hurried over to greet him. She took him to her new home, and he is now in his last long. But he was not being told how long he had been away, nor the anguish his departure caused. All that would come in time, but the task of the present is to build up again his self-confidence, to repair a memory and a mind badly shattered by war experiences, and war wounds, to let him feel that his wanderings are over and that at least he is again among his own.

From accounts which are coming in from all over the provinces of Ontario and Quebec it appears that Major Lean headed for Montreal, begging meals and rides along the way. Arriving in Montreal he sought at 2 o'clock on Friday, June 7th, and were conducted by Rev. Mr. Marr, of Calgary, assisted by Rev. Mr. Long, of Carleland, and interment was in the Burialland Cemetery, Calgary.

The pall bearers were O. Moorhouse, W. Bergquist, F. Addeman, A. O. Moore, T. H. Kruse and D. Anderson.

Here the mystery of his case begins again. Interviews with the farmer and other residents of the district have established the fact that under the name of Robert James he was accepted as a perfectly normal member of the little farming community. There was no mystery about his past. No one suspected that he was a victim of amnesia. In fact, residents state that he talked freely about his early life, and often the neighbors would meet at the Jones homestead to listen to the "bird man" tell of his experiences in the South African and Great War. He talked freely of his relatives, Jones says, but when asked if he had any relatives on this side of the Atlantic said that his only close relative was a sister in England.

He came to be quite a central figure in the community, and a regular attendant at church, and it was with the greatest reluctance that his employer heard that he had decided to leave. That was on May 9. He was to go to England where a legacy of $5,000 was awaiting him. In all the time he was on this farm he received only one letter. He took a great interest in any strangers in the community and read the newspapers continually.

It was May 28 before he arrived in Toronto. What did he do in Toronto, walking the streets day after day, night after night, trying to associate ideas with faint memories, recollections with remembrances? How did he finally come to find his home, and what did he feel when he found that his wife was no longer there?

All these things have been left to Dr. W. Bailey, medical officer, the Christie Street Soldiers' Hospital, who is making an exhaustive investigation of this case. Dr. Bailey admits that he is absolutely baffled. It exhibits none of the ordinary symptoms of amnesia. There are none of the usual gaps, and there are many which are distinctly unusual. Apparently he was suffering from none of the physical disabilities to which amnesia is usually traced. His work on the farm had improved his physique, and yet the strange hiatus in his mind persisted.

IMPERIAL TRADE PREFERENCE HAILED AS DOMINANT ISSUE IN CANADA'S NEXT ELECTION

OTTAWA.—The next session of the Canadian House of Commons can hardly fail to be the most portentous of any since the war. Mr. Hon. Mackenzie King and his government may decide to go to the country on the major issue of free trade within the empire, to be brought about by a gradual increase in Imperial preference. Such is the word animating the communications of well-informed political correspondents.

The Dominion tariff policy, changed but little by the current Robt budget, is admittedly an agency which may have to be radically overhauled when the House meets next. Canadian and United States relations have been regarded as undergoing a development, which in another year may require radical revision in the policies of the two countries, one toward the other.

Canada is the best customer of her neighbor to the south. The two nations are an economic entity, however strong may be, and is, the ties that bind the ties that bind the Dominion to the Imperial link, so that this country feels that "retaliation" is necessary so long as the United States persists in her tariff legislation. Meanwhile the third session of the sixteenth parliament of Canada passed into history with the distinctive record of having done less than any other session to encumber the statute books of the country.

Changes in tariff and taxation have been discussed, and important, notably the amendments to the grain act and to the elections act, have been adopted. None the less, however, it remains true that the interest of the session has been rather in its discussion than in its legislation, in the problems which it has been approaching rather than in any decisive action which it has taken upon any one of them.

Government ministers and members of the commons alike have felt during the session that they were in the midst of circumstances which were rapidly crystallizing but would yet not reach the stage for action until another year. Events of major importance have been seen as crowding the future.

Politically the session has been quiet. The government has never been in danger of defeat. Some uncertainty was introduced in the situation by intimations from Hon. Mr. Robt and other ministers that the government may take the initiative in revising the country's tariff. As a result Hon. Mr. Bennett, Conservative leader, has craved on protection more extensively than in any other session.

with the purpose, evidently, of establishing a prior claim to the policy when the next session should convene. This date, incidentally, has revealed one of the enigmas of the session. Whereas an appeal to the country was at one time thought possible this fall, it is certain now that it will not be made until next year, with persons close to the government even declaring that in view of the recent Saskatchewan election result it will not come until 1931.

Both International and domestic matters have merged in the deliberations of the chamber. Approval of the unilateral peace pact of the Geneva protocol against the use of poison gases in war, and of the convention to preserve the scenic beauty of Niagara Falls, have occasioned debate no less lengthy than the one which arose from the situation of the grain growers of Western Canada, whose marketing problems dominated the session more than any other single issue.

WHEAT POOL NOTES

The Alberta Wheat Pool has fixed July 15th as the closing date for the 1928-29 Pool. There are quite a number of Pool farmers who have still a little wheat on hand and they are advised this must be delivered by July 15th, otherwise it will go in with next year's pool.

The Supreme Court of Canada has decided in favor of the Alberta Wheat Pool contention in the H. W. Key suit. The Supreme Court judgment sustained the judgment of the Supreme Court of Alberta, which was the matter in dispute was one for arbitration and not for legal action.

According to reports from Ottawa the Federal Government is bringing into effect legislation which will greatly reduce mixing of wheat in terminal elevators. The Wheat Pools have strongly urged that the government should take steps to limit the mixing evil.

The Canadian Journal of Commerce in a recent issue states: "Despite the large crop of autumn Wheat Pool members have excellent reason to be thankful that their crop was not subject to the vagaries of the members of the Chicago and Winnipeg Grain Exchange whose primary object is quite naturally, and under former conditions quite properly, to buy and sell at a profit to themselves."

The Alberta Wheat Pool has discontinued broadcasting for the summer months, as has been its custom in the past. The Pool will resume radio work this coming fall.

ROCKYFORD

Don't forget the play "What Happened to Jones" put on in the Rockyford Hall on Monday, June 24th, by the Rosebud United Church Ladies Aid. This is a splendid play, and the cast of fifteen have done some, interesting practicing to do it justice and give the public two and a half hours of unexcelled entertainment. The entertainment is being sponsored by the Rockyford Ladies Aid. Come one, come all.

The crops in this district look splendid, and are from 6 to 10 inches high, but the continued dry weather is making everyone anxious to the extent that the farmers are either irrigating or preparing to do so at an early date.

A very pretty wedding took place in the Scarborough Church on Wednesday, June 12th, when Marion Kennedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Kennedy, of Island, Island, became the bride of James W. Bissett, son of J. Bissett, of Aberdeen, Scotland. Rev. J. H. Gardner officiated. The bride looked very becoming in her dress of beige lace and tulle and to match, she carried a bouquet of pink roses, and was attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Kennedy, who wore an ensemble suit of rose flax crepe and large hat to match, and carried rose carnations. The groom was assisted by Jim McElbobbie. The bridesmaids were in white and the bridesmaid a bridesmaid, while the bridesmaid received a neat tie. The bride's travelling costume was a tweed ensemble. The happy couple are spending their honeymoon in Banff before returning to Rockyford, where they will make their home. Both parties are well and favorably known in this district, and everyone joins in wishing them every happiness.

A very pleasant time was spent at the home of Mrs. Hewson on Monday, June 10th, when the three lady teachers entertained at bridge. About twenty enjoyed the game. Mrs. Hewson carried off the highest honors, and Mrs. C. Bissett second, while Mrs. Carpenter received the consolation. A very dainty lunch was served by the hostesses.

Arrangements were made for the Strawberry Ice Cream Social to be held on Carleton Place on Wednesday evening, June 19th. After the other business Mrs. Gilbert gave her talk on Home Missions. This was very much enjoyed, as Mrs. Gilbert knows her subject well, having been an active member for many years. A very dainty lunch was served by the hostesses, with several friends assisting. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. S. Roppel, when Mrs. Jarvis will give a paper on Foreign Missions.

The attention work on the United Church House is progressing splendidly. Several men from the district gathered on Monday to run the cement for the foundation, and with the changes that are being made inside, it will be much more convenient. Mr. Monroe, of Calgary, has charge of the work.

The Trail Rammers returned to Rosebud on Saturday evening for a game of baseball. These boys played the game for all their lives, and it was a real enjoyment for themselves and their supporters. The final score was 5 to 8 in favor of Rockyford.

Quite a new lot of baseball enthusiasts motored to Keema on Friday to the tournament, and had the pleasure of helping cheer Rockyford victory. They secured the $50 prize. Those who stayed to the dance in the evening report a good time.

A quiet wedding took place at West Calgary Church on Sunday afternoon when Margaret Kratt, of Alia, and Ed L. Kenworthy were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Rev. W. M. Gilbert, of Rockyford, officiated. Mrs. J. Brown, of Calgary, played the wedding march, and the bride entered the church on her brother's arm, who gave her in marriage. Her dress was of rosewood flax crepe, with hat to match, and carrying a beautiful bouquet. The bridesmaid, Miss Edna Kenworthy, chose a Reesela blue dress, with picture hat and flowers. Mr. Dick Wilder assisted the groom. Immediately after the wedding, upon the happy couple motored to Banff, where they will spend their honeymoon before returning to their new home just east of town.

We are all glad to see Fred Schaefer who is out again after his recent attack of quinsy.

The intermediate baseball team played a match game on Carleton on Sunday afternoon on the latter's diamond. The runs seemed to pile up by 11, and starts till in the eighth inning it was 11 all, and they seemed to be unable to break this tie, even though they played ten innings. Another game is being arranged so this point can be decided.

The friends of Mrs. Wm. Short will be pleased to know that she has recovered sufficiently from her recent sickness and operation to return to her home west of town.

Another wedding of interest to many Rockyford friends took place at the home of Mr. T. Fowles, Red Deer, on Wednesday, June 19th, when his only daughter, Hazel, became the bride of Louis W. Sander, of Rockyford. After a few weeks in Vancouver and other coast cities, the young couple will take up their abode at the A. W. Miller ranch, where Mr. Sander has been employed for some time.

FARM RELIEF BILL BATTLE WAGES WAR CANADA STARTS, AWAITING RESULT

TORONTO—The laughs best, who laughs last.

It looks as though President Hoover will get the last laugh.

It is a battle royal that is being waged between political parties "across the border" on the much disputed question of "farm relief."

It seems uncertain at the moment on which the fighting parties banner the blue bird of "victory" will finally perch.

As every one now knows, there is a strong party in the Senate at Washington "insurgents" they are sometimes called, who are opposed to the President's ideas as to just what form this matter of "farm relief" shall take. This party favors what is known as the "debtors' plan, a plan to which the President is understood to be very definitely opposed.

This debtors, or "bounty" plan, it may be briefly explained, is embodied in the provision that a bonus of twenty-one cents a bushel be paid to the farmer, over and above the market price he may obtain for his grain. That is, in addition to the forty-two cents a bushel tariff duty now enjoys against the Canadian wheat producer, the United States farmer shall also receive an extra bonus, or bounty of twenty-one cents on every bushel of wheat he sells.

The process of working out the "debtors' scheme is more complicated than as briefly here stated, but in substance that is what it amounts to.

It is the principle of system of farm relief to which the "die hards" in the Senate have made up their minds to adopt, and which they are determined, according to their present fall and attitude, the "set" or "bust" to use an elegant phraseology said to be well understood on the "other side of the line" and on both sides of that line, for that matter.

At all events, so determined were the alleged "insurgents" to gain their ends, in face of the President's frequently expressed opposition to the "bounty" principle, that it has been charged they were prepared to wreck the whole scheme of farm relief.

President Hoover has resources, however, and in this case apparently something very effective was brought into use.

A clamor call to the "House" to pull itself out of the deadlock resulted in a knock out for the Senate, in a vote of 250 to 113 against the Senate's proposed "debtors' clause."

Jim Jeffries never made a more dramatic and quick "come back" than did President Hoover, with the full force of that bumping majority behind him.

After many of the "experts" had ruled him down and out, and within twenty-four hours from the delivery of the "vote," a market dispatch over the wires late on Friday, announced that the "bill" minus "debtors" had been adopted by the Senate by unanimous consent.

And thus the curtain rang down on a fight which at times became spectacular.

Already first steps have been taken for the organizing of the new Farm Board. It is not expected that it will take very long to bring the "bill" into effect. Perhaps before the end of June.

Just what effect its operation will have on the market remains to be seen. That it will have more than a stabilizing effect on market prices, and preventing those wild and deep fluctuations, such as of late have characterized the market, is not to be expected. That it will ultimately tend to advance prices will have only a secondary wide crop conditions. One thing is sure. It will not work miracles.

IN LIGHTER VEIN

The Village Blacksmith

In a little Vermont town they were giving an entertainment for the benefit of the fund to supply chewing gum to the Brazil Indians. Miss Florence Seymour, the famous dramatic reader and dramatic dancer, who was passing the summer there, was prevailed upon to take part. She recited that old favorite, "The Village Blacksmith."

The selection was followed by tremendous cheering, and Miss Seymour was about to respond to an overture which a smiling blow to the side, and, motioning her to come to the edge of the platform, whispered in her ear: "I want you to do me a favor. Will you?"

"That depends on what it is," answered the young lady sweetly. "Well," said the man, "it happens to be the village blacksmith you've been talking about, and I just wanted to ask you to put in a verse such that I also named automobiles." The fainter.

More Boys Planning to Make Buchanan's Alaska Tour

BUCHANAN'S BOYS AT LAKE ATHOL, B.C.

George E. Buchanan, sponsor and leader of the Alaska tour, has addressed "Alaska, Buchanan, Detroit," telling the boys who wrote to him direct from anywhere how he can earn his third by selling pencils, kitchen towels, steel ash baskets, etc. Boys who qualify go westward through Canadian Rockies, seeing Banff and Lake Louise, then north to Alaska on the "Princess Louise." They also see the wonders of Alaska and return by the "Princess" to Vancouver. Boys who qualify for the United States, then viewing the finest scenery in Canada, Alaska and the States. Buchanan goes with them on every trip and gives them his personal care. When asked what he did if they got sick, he declared that they did not get sick, or if they had a bit of an indisposition, the wonderful climate pepped them up and put them back on their feet immediately. "One boy gained 10 lbs. during the month's tour," said Buchanan. "Every boy is in better physical, mentally and as a young business man. He has seen Alaska's wonders and has saved part of the money to finance the trip, which covers about 8,000 miles and lasts a whole month. One of my youngest boys, who is 5 years old, has already earned about $80, and if he gets a third together on his own efforts, he will be in our party this summer, even if he is only six years old. Any boy anywhere can do it, provided he gets his parents' consent and earns his third."

Stern father (to son going back to board-school): "Don't let me hear any bad reports about you."
Careless son: "I'll try not to, Dad, but you know how these things break out."

Wife: "I think, Ernie, sheep are the most stupid creatures on earth."
Ernie (absent-mindedly): "Yes, my lamb."

A Cokersey plumber was called to Ealing to look after some defective pipes during the recent cold spell in England. Naturally, he left his tools at the shop, and then phoned his assistant to bring them.

"Where are yer," asked the helper, "Ealing?"

"Oo do yer spell it?"

"E-ALING."

"Oo, Gorbliney, I can't 'ear yer 'at bad, moite'."

"All right, I'll give yer the letters."

"E-for Eary;

"A-for 'at 'oese cats;

"I-for yer goes wen yer die;

"I-for Iagine;

"N-wat lyes the eggs;

"O-for Gorbliney! Got it moite'?"

"Hight'."

Heater McGreagr, who is striving to keep one jump ahead of a lawn, a lodge and six well-assorted rows of weeds has his own ideas of the need of "farm relief."

"I am not much of a mathematician," said Carelessness, "but I can add to your troubles, subtract from your earnings, multiply your aches and pains, divide your attention, take your interest from your work and discount your chances of safety."

Ian MacKenzie: "Parse the sentence: Tom married Jane."

Vin: "Tom's a noun because he's the name of something; married's a conjunction because it joins Tom to Jane; and Jane's a verb because she governs the noun."

"A burglar broke into my place last night."

"Rather. You see, my wife thought it was me!"

Angry Hattie: "Did you, or did you not, lose this license for marrying me to Delmonte Green?"

License Clerk: "Yes, I believe we did, Why?"

Hattie: "Well, what are you going to do about it? He's escaped."

"Have you never had a romance?"

"Never," declared Miss Cayman.

"Have no men asked you to marry them?"

"Several have made the suggestion, but I decided that what they wanted was not so much for me to marry them as for father to finance them."

Herbert Brown, from college, was expressing his disappointment over his unsuccessful attempt to raise a mustache at nineteen. He was subtly seeking the family's advice as to whether or not to shave it off, when his sister, Helen, aged four, naively exclaimed: "Leave it on, Herbie; nobody can see it anyway."

"So you've named your little boy after you? How can you tell which one your wife is addressing?"

"You heard her call, 'Peter, darling!'"

"Well, wait until you hear her yell for me."

"So your little boy wasn't really lost?"

"No, we found him under the Sunday paper."

"I'm glad to hear you will be staying on with me after you're married. Do I know the lucky man?"

"Oh, yes, mum. It's your son!"

She (passionately): "Will you ever love another, dearest?"

He (weakly): "No, never, if I get out of this affair!"

Mother was entertaining company in the drawing room when Betty clattered noisily down from the nursery.

Short pause followed, and Betty re-very quietly, said her mother. A short pause followed and Betty re-appeared, saying: "You didn't hear me this time, mother, did you?"

"No," replied her mother, "you came down without a sound as every lady should, Betty."

"Lumph!" returned Betty, "I slid down the banister!"

"Good morning, Mrs. Betts. Oh, I say, I saw Mrs. Budd this morning and she told me the very same news I asked you not to repeat to anyone, because I promised Mrs. Sprig I would not tell."

"But Mrs. Budd promised me she wouldn't tell I'd told her."
"Oh, well, never mind. I told her I wouldn't tell you she had told me, you had told her."

On the road to Calgary a motorist had occasion to crawl under his car to do a small repair. A herd of cows came by in charge of a boy.

As the last one passed the car the boy called out: "All right, mister, you can come out. They won't hurt you now."

Customer: "But I warn you I cannot pay for this suit for three months."

Bill Tierney: "Oh, that does not matter in the least."

"When will it be ready?"

"In about three acute" time."

Ginsberg (to daughter, after wedding): "Now, Rebecca, don't forget to tell papa's sis—I want grandchildren—a bunch of dem little vons!"

Rebecca: "Oy, right away he talks wholesal!"

"So you're married! What's your wife like?"

"Oh, moon or anything else I bring home."

The visiting clergyman was preaching on the beautiful "peace and the testament of heaven to the inmates of a sanitarium when a flapper (quite burst into tears. A nurse hurried to her.

"What is it, dear?" she asked.

"Oh, I wish that preacher would cut out talking about that place," sobbed the flapper. "I'm paying eighteen dollars a week to keep out of it."

A flapper, well loaded with bundles, slipped on the railway car step and tumbled to the platform amid the scattered packages.

"Oh, dear," she exclaimed to D. A. Perry, "did you see my Butterick pattern?"

"Well, right, lady," replied the genial agent, placing a fashion sheet in her hand, "I been on this job a long time."

Bill Tierney was admiring a very charming young lady, apparently a stranger in town, and remarked:

"She's a humdinger all right, there ain't no argument about that, but the guy who marries her will have to have his cooking and washing done outside the family."

Mr. Nosey Parker was strutting long the pavement when he noticed a sandwich board man coming toward him in the gutter. As the man drew nearer, Mr. Nosey Parker observed with surprise that the fellow was carrying his boards reversed so that the advertisement could not be seen.

Mr. Nosey Parker was nothing if not officious. He stopped the man.

"Hi, my good fellow," he cried, "do you know you're carrying your boards wrong way round?"

The man regarded him coldly.

"Certainly I know," he retorted.

"And why? 'Cause this is my dinner hour, and I ain't going to work in that."

Browne was loaded up with parcels when his friend met him.

"Been doing a bit of shopping?" queried the friend.

"Yes. I've bought my wife two new hats, two boxes of chocolates, and a string of pearls."

"Good heavens, man, what an awful quarrel you must have had!"

An old negro was brought into a police station charged with vagrancy.

"Law, mistah, I ain't no vagrant! I've a hand wukkin, religious man. Look at that!" And he pointed to the large patches ornamenting the knees of his trousers. "I got dem fo'm praying!"

"How about the patches on the seat of your breeches?"

The negro looked sheepish for a moment, then: "I reckon Ah must have got dose back slidin'," he said.

FARMING ONLY OCCUPATION UNDER OWN BOSS

It is high time that someone arose to the defense of that beautiful trail of song and story about "the happy farmer". Dean Cooper of the Kentucky College of Agriculture enters the lists at a propitious moment. Why put figurative rags on the farmer? Why hold him up to public gaze as a simpleton who loaves, mopes, or stays on the farm just the same? Why call him a peasant and picture him as something that is lost? This very act of "running down" the farmer and his calling has been responsible for a lack of demand for farm land and a diminishing of property values, Dean Cooper contends.

Agriculture, says Mr. Cooper, isn't just the only occupation where a man can be "his own boss". Certainly nothing can equal the independence of farm life where one's work and efforts are gauged entirely by one's aims and desires. Certain basic nature must be altered before the farm's calling can be considered ideal. It is true, and surely he is entitled to "relief" as much as any other major industrialist. But he is no poverty-stricken wretch, without hope or happiness.

Farmers don't write books or plays depicting gloom, wretchedness and misery as natural concomitants of rural life. They buy their radios, books, magazines, automobiles, washing machines, vacuum cleaners, electric milks, tractors and everything else that playthings and authors buy—and more, too—with money earned from supplying the rest of us with food and clothing. If material possessions make one happy, the farmer should laugh with joy. He is the city's best customer. Publishers know he is well-read, and politicians have discovered that he is intelligent. Why shouldn't he be? Isn't intercession for him when one follows a plow up furrow after furrow, quite alone, with nothing to distract him but the crows hopping about?—Louisville Courier-Journal.

LABOR ELEMENT WELCOMES INTRODUCTION AUTOMATIC MACHINERY

Man spends much thought and effort in devising ways and means of saving time. Virtually all inventions are conceived as time-savers. A typewriter advertisement reads: "To save time is to lengthen life". All men are interested in living longer but they are more immediately interested in doing more in less time.

The fast clipper ship, and more recently the steamship, the railroad, the automobile and the airplane were all conceived in the cause of saving time. The cotton gin, the farm tractor, the harvesting machine, the telephone, the radio—all the countless labor-saving and production-increasing machines in the mills of the world and the various stages of the printing press—were adopted by the world because they save time.

During the early years of industrialism labor opposed the adoption of labor-saving machines because workers feared the machines would deprive them of work. They soon learned that the machines were merely instrumental in creating more and better work. Today labor welcomes the invention of a machine which will perform a mental task quicker and perhaps better than can be done by hand. Perhaps there has been a drift away from manual labor, but labor sees where it can find work. If there is a tendency toward the mental and clerical occupations it has been because there is more work of that kind. When a machine is used that produces the work of a hundred workmen it automatically increases the number of men required to market its product.

INDIVIDUALS AND NATIONS HAVE PECULIAR TRAITS

Every community has its members who can not get along with their fellow citizens. Many offices, stores and factories have persons on the staff who are incompatible with their fellow workers. Every such and woman knows somebody he or she "can't bear". No two persons are alike, and every action and race has traits peculiar to itself. Sometimes the point of disagreement is opinion, such as religious, race or national prejudices. Between individuals attitude, habits, personality and character may be the cause for dislike. Sometimes people disagree and others often they even anger their fellows. Women are said to be ever more prone to take personal dislikes to others than are men, but among men is often heard the remark: "If it wasn't for the law".

But in a large world and one person has no more right to it than another. Since it is no longer possible to lead the life of a recluse or hermit, people must learn to conquer their dislikes and aversions. It isn't easy and it isn't pleasant, but it is frequently necessary. Workmen have been successful in abolishing many undesirable working conditions, but they have never evolved a sure method of ridding themselves of undesirable working companions.

People make life easier and sweeter for themselves by seeing the good side of the person who has a dozen bad traits.

U. S. TO FOLLOW CANADIAN LEAD BY SETTING UP POOL

TORONTO, Ont.—Well, no matter what they name it, or rename it, it's just the same old thing. "Farming" by which name President Hoover's pet child has been known ever since he introduced the promising infant into his electoral campaign.

The conferees of the Senate in the "House," who this week have been busy doling up the "bill" for its final presentation, have it is reported, decided to give "Bill" a new name, and to designate him the "Agricultural Marketing Act".

"Initiation" is said to be the "sincerest form of flattery". And whether you call the new piece of legislation an "Act" or a "Bill" it is the same thing in the end, essentially an initiation of the Canadian Wheat Pool. The principle at the back of it is the same. It's a time and purpose the same. The machinery provided for working out the details of the Washington scheme may be different to the machinery provided for working out the details of the Canadian Pool in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, but the results in both cases will be the end result, amount to much the same thing.

And to that extent, therefore, Washington is paying tribute to the illustrious testimony to the far-sightedness of the originators of the Wheat Pool idea and to the soundness of its underlying principle.

For after all, what is the "Agricultural Marketing Act" of Washington but a "Pool" under another name? True, there is a difference. The one working under government auspices and with money borrowed from, or perhaps given by the government; while the Canadian Pool is purely a private organization and working with its own money.

THE KING EDWARD HOTEL

The place where we want you to feel at home.

We endeavor to please and aim to give Service and Courteous Treatment

FRANK MILLER, Proprietor

The Washington "Agricultural Marketing Act" provides first for the organization of a representative "Board", which in essence is exactly the counterpart of the "Central Selling Agency" for the Canadian Wheat Pool. The "Act" further provides, according to an explanation by the "Journal of Commerce," "authorization for a revolving fund of $500,000,000. One of the last minute provisions to which the conference agreed was intended to give the proposed stabilization corporation which may be organized for each community a dual function of authority. This is in accord with the Senate Bill. One function will be to acquire and store the surplus, or otherwise deal with it. The other function will be to act as a marketing agency for its stockholders."

If the "Journal's" diagnosis of the "Agricultural Marketing Act" is correct, what is it but an almost exact counterpart or imitation of the Canadian Wheat Pool?

The "Board" or "Corporation," call it what you will, it apparently is to be empowered to "acquire and store the surplus" or "otherwise deal with it."

In other words, it may "hoard" or acquire such portion of that "huge surplus" which has been the bug bear of the American market for months past, and "market" it at some future time in such manner as shall most benefit the "stockholders," or whom the "corporation" is acting as "marketing agency."

Which is exactly what the "Central Selling Agency" of the "Wheat Pools" of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, is doing for the Canadian farmer who is a "Pool" member.

And so the main and new idea of the "Pool" known as "orderly marketing," as opposed to the old idea of dumping produce in an already congested market, and accepting such a price as the buyer chooses to give is spreading and winning its way across borders and continents, and in quarters hitherto supposed to have been bitterly opposed to the principle of so-called "interference with the natural laws of supply and demand."

That ancient cry, common to all bays established but dying "interests" will soon become as extinct as the still more ancient "Dodo" or whatever was the name of that giant mammal of early geological eras.

In the meantime, traders in the Winnipeg and Chicago wheat pits this week have been busy discounting the probable immediate effects of the passing, at an expected early date, probably within the next two or three days, of the much talked of Hoover measure, so potential of results, too good or for evil, not only to the farming community but the nation.

In the reasonable anticipation that the prices must advance on the passing of the bill with its half billion dollar "revolving fund" wheat futures have been jumped up from the 16c to round 14c from the recent low levels. As might be expected in this process, or game, of discounting possible future advances, the market has been kept in a more or less high state of nervous excitement, as seen in the constantly recurring fluctuations, the temperature of the market so to speak, soaring rapidly from hot to cold, and visa-versa.

That "there's many a slip, 'twixt the cup and the lip" is a wise old proverb that may be applied equally to politics. While it appears now to be reasonably certain that "Farm Relief" will materialize in some substantial form, there has always been a sort of dormant fear at the back of the brains of market leaders that something might yet happen to spoil the rosy prospect.

In spite of this fear, however, with occasional set backs the market has surged steadily ahead, and may yet advance with gathering momentum.

That some market "bulls" are unduly optimistic as to the future of the wheat market, may be seen from the following which appeared in the market dispatches:

"President A. B. Eckels, president of the Studebaker Corp'n in the course of an interview with a New York News Bureau representative declared his belief that the outlook for a good farm buying period was favorable. The promise of Government help in sustaining prices of farm products is an optimistic sign, he said. Regardless of the fact that the economic theory may be intenable, the actual result, had been very satisfactory and should continue to be, he declared, as a result of the news that credit would be made available to support the price structure. The market has already rallied sharply from its low levels and the possibility of Government aid alone should enable further recoveries in values. It would not be surprised even if wheat went as high as $1.75 or $2.00 a bushel."

Readers may take that prediction for what it is worth, and form their own conclusions.

THIS FAMOUS NEW YORK ARTIST IS STILL A CANADIAN AT HEART
(Special to the Standard)

(Copyright)
NEW YORK.—It is a far cry from Canada to a lofty, high-windowed studio in West 67th St., New York—the artist's Mecca, where every tall building in a certain section consists of specially constructed studio apartments. It is even farther when the road has been travelled via London, Paris and the trenches of Flanders, as it was by a man whose blurry signature is familiar to all readers of certain very popular periodicals published in the United States and who stands in the topmost rank of magazine illustrators today—H. J. Mowat, whose peculiar gift for portraying the very heart of a dramatic mystery in black and white has caused much heart-burning among the editors who want his services and can't get them. A literary luncheon party in New York was recently surprised on blue when the question of successful Canadians in the United States came up, and the New York edition of the Red Book referred to Hal Mowat as one of this distinguished company. "Sure!" said the editor. "He's a Canadian all right. He was born in Montreal and lived a long time in Toronto."

London is the city closest to his heart as an artist. "I love London," he says. "It's a great place for a black-and-white worker. But New York, of course, is the real market for one's wares. In the very early days I made the rounds of the New York publishing houses with a portfolio under my arm, meeting the usual disappointments that all young artists must encounter. My first commission, I remember, was from the American magazine, and I took the job so seriously that I spent several days huddled in the studio and exactly the right type of sailor for my illustration. Finally I found him, dragged him to my attic of a studio, paid him lavishly for his sketch, and after delivering my drawing in high hopes found that I had just about broken even on the transaction! Arthur Stringer and Arthur William Browne roomed in the same shabby house with me at that time—they have since become really famous. I've never been what one might call a success, because I work too slowly. I'm not good at mass production."

"You like your job?" he was asked. "Rather!" he answered, his seriousness giving way to a smile. "But—and he waved a hand about the studio dusky now in the twilight, with its pillars, its balcony and its panelled walls—this is my way to live! One of these days I'm coming back to Canada; I own a hilltop just outside of Montreal and that's the place I want to settle down. It is practically impossible to work in New York and live anywhere else, and I don't know just how I'll manage it. But I have a small son and no boy should be forced to take an elevator every time he goes out."

AIRMEN PLANNING TO FLY FROM SASKATOON TO LONDON, ENGLAND
SASKATOON, Sask. — Announcing that he and Bruce "Bet" Ronald, trans-Canada Airways pilot, intend to make a flight from Saskatoon to London, England, hopping off from the trans-Canada aeroplane August 15, and following the Hudson Bay route as far as the northern coast of Quebec. Ben Brod was came to Saskatoon by automobile today to make complete arrangements for the big flight. The two airmen reside in Winnipeg, where Mr. Brod was a returning shortly.

Brodman and Ronald are war "pals" the former having enlisted at the age of 16 years. They will make the flight in a Lockheed monoplane, powered by a Wright whirling motor, with an average speed of 125 miles per hour and a cruising radius of roughly 50 miles. Ronald will be chief pilot, with Brodman prepared to take over the controls and to act as mechanic. Leaving the hub of the hard wheat belt, the airmen will head directly for Port Churchill, the terminus of the Hudson Bay railway, a total of 700 miles. The second stop, to Nottingham Island, at the entrance of Hudson Strait, will take the plane for another 600 miles. From there a comparatively short flight will bring the intrepid fliers to Port Burwell where they bid farewell to Canada and head across the sea for Fredericton, Greenland, a distance of 600 miles. Leaving Greenland, the next hop is to Reykjavik, Iceland, 745 miles away. The plane will then change its course and head for the north coast of Scotland, a distance of 640 miles and the last leg will bring the airmen to the Crofton aerodrome, near London, the return journey will be made by steamship. Mr. Brodman, who said that Ronald and he had sufficient financial backing, said that the flight was not intended as a mere sporting venture, but that its purpose was to advertise western Canada and draw attention to the new Hudson Bay route, the prairie outlet.
